IX. NEW BUSINESS

A. Comprehensive Plan – Update

Mr. Justin Wyse, Director of Planning & Development Services gave an update on meetings with the Traffic and Planning Consultants.

Traffic

- Each parcel within the City has been reviewed with respect to its existing land use.
- Traffic counts have been completed throughout the City in accordance with the contract approved by City Council.
- Staff has completed the initial revisions of the traffic analysis.
- The Consultant is in the process of reviewing all of the links and nodes within the system.
- It is hoped that within the next one-two months, the existing conditions will be available with the calibrated and validated models in place.
- The Planning Consultants will then create future scenarios and identify where improvements are needed.

Comprehensive Plan

- The first public kick-off meeting is scheduled for the evening of Tuesday, January 29th in Council Chambers.
- Policy-maker interviews will be conducted by the Consultants with each of the Councilmembers and Planning Commissioners. It is anticipated that the face-to-face interviews will be scheduled for January 28-29.
- A project website is close to being finalized, which will include information on all of the upcoming public events, along with general information about the Comp Plan. The public can also submit information to the City through the website, and will have the option of signing up to receive future updates by providing an email address.
- Additional events will potentially be held late March thru early April. Dates will be chosen so as not to conflict with Spring Break school closures.

Mr. Wyse encouraged the Commission to attend the January 29th kick-off meeting and to share the information with as many residents as possible in order to have a good turn-out. He noted that subdivision Trustees will be contacted and that printed material will be made available to City Council and the Commission, which can be distributed at neighborhood meetings, etc. Any inquiries from residents should be directed to Mr. Wyse, Ms. Henry, or the Planner of the Day.

During discussion, the Commission made the following suggestions:

- Provide text for use in an email and Facebook posts outlining what is hoped to be accomplished at the kick-off meeting.
- Chair Hansen suggested choosing meeting dates that don't conflict with Spring Training.

B. Planning & Zoning Training

Chair Hansen announced that she, along with Mayor Nation, several Councilmembers, and Commissioners Rosenauer and Tilman have completed the Planning & Zoning training through UMSL, of which key learning points will be shared with the Commission.
